An Old Adage Reads:

"There is a place for every thing." Now for everything to be in its place the Louisville Dispatch should be in the hands of every Democrat in the South. The Louisville Dispatch is the people's paper, owned by the people and read by the people. The Louisville Dispatch is the only Democratic paper published in Louisville. It stands squarely on the Chicago platform. It is not only in a flourishing condition after eighteen months battling adverse circumstances, but is to day the best news medium in the South. And its motto—"If you see it in the Dispatch it's so; if it's so it is always in the Dispatch," has been fully verified during the American Spanish War, during which the superiority of its news service has been daily apparent.

The Dispatch news service is furnished by the New York Sun, the Chicago Inter-Ocean, the Northern Press Association and the Leslie Syndicate, which an active salaried correspondent in every important city in the world, besides its own staff of over 300 correspondents in Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana. Get The Dispatch, it gives the news, and it tells the truth about it.

The Dispatch is Kentucky's greatest paper. You should be a reader. For the next few weeks we will club with the Weekly Dispatch at the extremely low price $2.00.

The lesson of war to Spain is that of the young woman who was told to hang her clothes on a hickory limb, but not go near the water. Every sea has been a sea of troubles to the Spaniard.

Aguiñaldo is thought to have all the ambition of a Napoleon. We may hear a good deal Aggy before the Philippine problem is settled.

QUEEN WILHELMINA.

Her Coronation Will Take Place on September 6.

The Main Celebration Will Be at Amsterdam, and the Ancient City Will Do Its Best to Make It a Success.

It is surely woman's era when three queens rule as many nations of Europe. This will be the case when the next great event of the year will have passed into history by the installation as queen of the Netherlands of Wilhelmina, daughter of the late King William III. and of his second wife, Princess Emma. The ceremony of crowning the girl queen of the Netherlands will take place in the New church, Amsterdam, on September 6.

Wilhelmina has grown up with the eyes of a nation watching her, and rejoicing as she changed from a pretty child into an unusually attractive woman. Her budding beauty has been raved over and written about as few other young women's looks have been. Her mental qualities have been praised in the way to turn the head of a less vain young person. In a word, she has been the idol of the nation and the pride of every Dutchman in the Netherlands since she first won their hearts as a child of seven riding a pretty little Shetland pony.

Now that the time has come when she is to leave childhood behind and become the woman and the queen, the picture she presents is one that the nation respects as well as loves. For Wilhelmina is a dignified miss.

She will have need of all her self-possession at her coronation, however, for the ordeal will be a trying one. Wilhelmina is supposed to come of age on that date. As a usual thing, boys and girls of the Netherlands do not come of age until they are 23, but in this case

QUEEN WILHELMINA.
(To Be Crowned September 6 at Amsterdam, Holland.)

Wilhelmina, being a queen, is allowed to come of age on her eighteenth birthday.

On the 31st of August, therefore, the queen regent will cease to rule and Wilhelmina will become queen of the Netherlands, although her coronation will not take place until September 6.

The programme is already arranged, and it is an interesting one.

The queen and the queen regent are to leave The Hague, where the birthday of the former will have been suitably celebrated a few days previously, on September 5, early in the afternoon.

Arriving at the Weesperpoort station, at Amsterdam, they will be met by the leading citizens and representatives of the government, and, accompanied by an escort of hussars, will be driven to the palace by a route sufficiently circuitous to enable a vast concourse of spectators to witness the procession. In every street to be traversed the decorations will be of the most ornate description, and loyal greetings will meet her majesty's eye at every turn, while a portion of the route, it is expected, will be lined by representatives of "labor corporations," carrying their respective banners.

Between the hours of seven and eight on the following morning (September 6) curious music will fall upon the ears of citizens, for from the steeples of the different churches trumpeters are to play excerpts from sacred works, surely a novel departure in reveilles.

At 11 o'clock on the same day, according to present arrangements, the coronation service will take place in the Nieuwe Kerk.

In the afternoon the queen will again drive through the town and will visit, among other districts, the Jordaan, this being the Jewish quarter.

With the fall of night the city is to be brilliantly illuminated, and it is expected that the queen will be driven through the streets in order that she may see the bright and radiant devices prepared in her honor.

The following morning will also be ushered in with musical strains, and at ten o'clock Queen Wilhelmina is to be serenaded by the Netherlands Choral society. The afternoon will witness a great popular festival, near that wondrous museum which contains Rembrandt's masterpiece. From the square the queen, accompanied by her august mother, will witness an allegorical and historical procession, which is being organized on an elaborate scale, with the view of illustrating, in picturesque fashion, the principal events that have marked the history of the nation.

Following this will be a "water carnival," in connection with which the craft in the harbor and canals will be gayly illuminated.

On the next day (September 8) she will probably pay a visit in company with her mother to that section of the Rijks museum which is devoted to objects of interest connected with the house of Orange.
